I have lived and visited many places in the world and I could not find a more idyllic setting. From beach visits to sporting events and music - I love going to local festivals - I am never at a loss for something to do. I honestly believe there are health benefits to living as I do.

MY CAREER IN NORTH DEVON

I found the Perrigo opportunity by chance. I received offers from a company in Switzerland and another in Liverpool, but the recruitment agency asked me to review a position in Devon. I searched the Perrigo company profile, the Barnstaple area, and the schools, as I have two children of school age. I was pleasantly surprised to see the results.

As a 6'6", 18 stone rugby player, I'm not a man prone to whimsy, but I was taken aback by the breath-taking beauty of Devon. On the way to the interview at Perrigo there was a rugby pitch, so I was sold before I even got there. Having a young family, I was attracted to the area for the clean air, countryside and the sea. The Tarka Trail is brilliant for kids - no risk of cars.

My new role as Lifestyle Technical Team Leader is exciting and dynamic. I take a holistic approach to improve value stream compliance and process capability and I'm involved in change management. Having come from a multi-national packaging company in Ireland I found working here refreshing because it does not have that anonymous feel which you sometimes get with large companies. Your opinion is valued and asked for.
